

Lifetime Development

Grayce Marie Stratton, Psy.D.

Dr. Mitchell Corwin

This integrative provider has a unique and effective way of working with the body, both diagnostically and in terms of treatment. He is a Medicare provider, licensed as a chiropractor and practices Neural Organization Technique. Dr. Corwin has helped many of my patients (at least 80 of them) in the dozen years since I was introduced to him by 3 different patients from all over the Bay Area in the same week! His approach yields diagnoses and also resetting of the nervous system in ways that neither neurofeedback nor conventional medicine has been fully able to. Regrettably, Medicare does not cover well for chiropractic, yet if one has supplemental insurance, there are more options for reimbursement.

I recognize that you or your family member may have unique health issues so thought you might wish to learn about Dr. Corwin's unusual work. I rarely see a conventional physician myself because Dr. Corwin is able both to tell me how well various organs and physical systems are working at any given point. His work lowers physiological and emotional stress that the body often stores and typically mitigates effects of injury related trauma as he demonstrates both how it manifests in particular cases and indicate when that trauma has lost its undermining effects due to a unique way of improving, sometimes correcting, aberrant neural signaling.

On the practical side Dr. Corwin can check nutrient and hormonal levels without blood or urine tests and search for and find various microbes* while discerning whether medications or supplements one may be taking are actually compatible with a person's own physiology while revealing hidden toxicities (e.g., heavy metals or biochemical contributors).

Dr. Corwin's rates are reasonable (~$155/hour, Do check with him or his staff about this however). Office: 510-845-3246.

*Dr. Corwin diagnosed my own daughter with Lyme disease and a specific, surprising additional infection after 3 years of pain and immensely life sabotaging distressing symptoms, thereby allowing her finally to be correctly treated after a number of the best MDs in the country had been unable identify her illnesses and an effective way to treat them.